Your next stop is the Boca's Museum, called Museo de la Pasión Boquense. Learn about the club's players, history and even the evolution of the jersey. And, of course, amidst many other interesting sites you will see the glorious trophy room. After the museum, enjoy some free time for a hearty lunch before continuing.

Continue then to the location where the second River Plate Stadium was relocated after leaving La Boca. Then it is off to El Monumental, where you will take a sightseeing stroll around the stadium and learn about the surroundings.

After that, enter the Museo River Plate to learn about the history of the club and its stars. In this museum you can literally walk into a time machine that takes you to a recreation of the year the club was founded. Visit the magnificent stadium and its endless facilities, from tennis courts to swimming pools and hotels. After a full six hours of tour, you will be an Argentine football expert.
